STRATEGY HELPS SHAPE CITY'S ACTIVE TRANSPORT

Developing the future of active transport such as walking and cycling on Redlands Coast is at the core of the Draft Redlands Coast Active Transport Strategy 2025–2046.

Mayor Jos Mitchell said the draft plan – endorsed by Council at yesterday's general meeting – would head to public consultation later this month.

"The active transport consultation will allow residents, stakeholders, and the wider community to help shape the future of walking and riding a cycle or scooter across the city," she said.

"Encouraging more people to walk and ride not only reduces congestion and pollution but also helps build thriving, vibrant communities."

The Mayor said the draft strategy presented a timely vision to transform how people moved around Redlands Coast as the city prepared for significant population, employment and visitor number growth over the next two decades.

"The active transport draft strategy offers a unique opportunity to reimagine travel for our residents and visitors by creating a more connected and inclusive network of walking and riding facilities, particularly within five kilometres of our major destinations," she said.

Transport Portfolio Councillor Shane Rendalls said one of the key reasons for developing the draft strategy was to cater for the Redlands Coast population of tomorrow, including by increasing the range of travel options, especially for people who don't drive.

"With the number of people living in the city expected to increase by 50,000 people and another 18,000 people forecast to be working within our borders over the next 20 years, effective alternatives to car travel will be required to help take pressure off the road network," Cr Rendalls said.

WHAT: Draft Redlands Coast Active Transport Strategy 2025–2046.

WHEN: the draft plan will enter a community engagement phase from 30 June to 24 July.

DETAIL: Consultation will allow residents, stakeholders, and the wider community to help shape the future of walking and riding a cycle or scooter across Redlands Coast

ROOF RESTORATIONS

TRANSFORM YOUR TIRED OLD ROOF WITH A VALUE BOOSTING MAKEOVER!

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean.
The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Andy Necklen fron A&E Neclen Roof Restorations has over 35 years experience in the painting trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations and offers a guarantee on all workmanship and materials.

Andy is an owner/operator and doesn't employ salespeople or contractors so costs are kept to a minimum, which means savings for you!

FORWARD THINKING URGED ON CITY'S TRANSPORT AND ACCESS

As part of a newly endorsed Council strategy, the community will have input on how the city can provide more sustainable, equitable and efficient access to its key destinations into the future.

Redland City Council endorsed the Draft Redlands Coast Access and Parking Strategy at yesterday's general meeting.
Mayor Jos Mitchell said the strategy, which will go to public consultation in August, provides a blueprint for managing access and parking as the city prepares for future growth.
"The strategy is about giving people better choices and making sure the city's destinations are safer, more inviting, and easier to access by all modes of transport," the Mayor said.
"Redlands Coast is home to vibrant villages, town centres and destinations that play a vital role in our local economy and lifestyle.
"As our population grows and travel behaviour changes, it's essential that we move towards a more balanced, accessible and sustainable transport system – one that works for everyone, not just those who drive."
Transport Portfolio Councillor Shane Rendalls said that as Redlands Coast evolved, so too must its local transport network.
"There is much that can be done to improve the efficiency of car parking in the city to reflect people's access needs, such as through management, regulation, and compliance," Cr Rendalls said.
"There is scope to better use car parking to improve access and turnover.
"Destinations can be made more inviting and safer for pedestrians, cyclists, and people with disabilities, with space being allocated to enable improved access by public transport operators, for drop offs and ride share."

BUDGET DELIVERS INVESTMENT IN ESSENTIAL CAPITAL PROJECTS

Redland City Council has adopted a $151.68 million capital expenditure program that includes a significant investment in essential infrastructure such as roads, waste and wastewater.

This funding commitment in the 2025–2026 Budget will ensure the city keeps pace with population growth now and into the future.

Almost one-third of this year's capital expenditure program – or $48.27 million – will go towards water, waste and wastewater projects to ensure Council maintains its high standard of service delivery to the community.

This includes more than $28 million for wastewater projects such as the design and construction of a sewer trunk network from Double Jump Road to service a new residential development, and the construction of a new gravity main and pump station on Kinross Road.

The Budget has allocated $10.4 million for three landfill remediation projects, including works at Judy Holt Park.

Significant funding has also been set aside for roads and traffic infrastructure.

More than $43 million has be allocated to road resurfacing, reconstruction and maintenance, and upgrade projects.

These include an upgrade to Kinross Road at Thornlands, and progressing the green seal program on the Southern Moreton Bay Islands.

Council is also investing $17.75 million in transport infrastructure, including progressing the delivery of a boat ramp, parking, bus stops, parks and roads within the Weinam Creek Priority Development Area.

Council publishes an Annual Capital Works Program document on its website at redland.qld.gov.au/budget

JUST IMAGINE WHAT YOU CAN DO THESE SCHOOL HOLIDAYS

The upcoming school holidays will kick-off on Redlands Coast with a big dash of imagination and a birthday party.

Getting the holidays off to a colourful start, Imagine Live! will be at Redland Performing Arts Centre from 26 to 28 June.

The show is a celebration of creativity, friendship and our precious natural world.

With the help of the audience, performers play and sing their way through the pages of Alison Lester's iconic best-selling book Imagine. You can even bring your grown-up for free to the Saturday performance.

On Monday 30 June, a morning 'Party in the Park' will be held at Redland Showgrounds, Cleveland, to celebrate the 10th birthday of the State Library initiative First 5 Forever.

Mayor Jos Mitchell said it would be a wonderful way for young families to enjoy the start of the holidays.

"The First 5 Forever program continues to be a popular part of the activities at our Redland City Libraries with weekly Toddler Time, Baby Time and Story Time sessions," she said.

"As well as the party in the park, there will be special events held at our mainland libraries the same week.

"These events are recommended for kids aged 0 to 8 years, so it is a great chance for some older siblings to celebrate with First 5-ers during the school holidays."

All activities listed are offered at a low cost or free of charge but may require bookings prior to attendance. Please note a waiting list is current for the First 5 Forever birthday party on 30 June. For further details and booking information visit www.redland.qld.gov.au/SchoolHolidayActivities.

FEEDBACK PATHS TO OPEN ON TRANSPORT FUTURE OF CLEVELAND

The community will be able to have a say later this month on the transport future of Cleveland with Redland City Council endorsing the Draft Cleveland Centre Local Area Transport Plan 2025–2046 (LATP) at yesterday's general meeting.
Redland City Mayor Jos Mitchell said the draft plan outlined a long-term vision for improving access, safety and connectivity in and through Cleveland Centre, in support of the area's growth.
"Cleveland is one of Redlands Coast's key commerce, lifestyle, and cultural destinations, and its continued success depends on how easy and enjoyable it is for people to get there and to move around," the Mayor said.
"This plan sets out how we can future-proof Cleveland with better walking, cycling, and public transport connections, while still accommodating essential vehicle and disability access in a more balanced way."
The Mayor said the LATP was developed in response to increasing transport pressures, population growth, and a desire to maintain the centre's unique character.
The draft plan outlines what Council envisages the transport system needs to support the centre's revitalisation over the next 20 years.
The draft plan will enter a community engagement phase from 30 June to 24 July.

The LATP aligns with Council's Corporate Plan – Our Future Redlands, Redlands Coast Transport Strategy, and Cleveland Centre Master Plan, that collectively aim to guide sustainable urban growth while enhancing liveability.
